

Pakistani Researches in Applied Psychology: Psychosocial Problems of Pakistani Society

This monograph is an attempt to compile the indigenous research work of the post-graduate students ranging from gender differences in the type and content of hallucinations of Pakistani patients suffering from schizophrenia to the academic stress experienced by the M. Phil and doctoral Pakistani students under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Yasmin Nilofer Farooqi, Department of Applied Psychology, University of the Punjab, Lahore, Pakistan. It is hoped that the research findings of these Pakistani applied researches would be of immense value for the students, social scientists, practitioners and scholars across the globe in promoting their understanding of the unique and complex psychosocial problems of the Pakistani society.
