

Space Rangers: A Love Story for the Galaxies

This book is a science fiction work that combines a budding romance with being in the military. The year is 2425 and Captain Matthew Abraham Lincoln has been given a commission to command the Space Rangers, a group of intergalactic police officers who work for the Galaxy Association of Planets (GAP). His team has been genetically enhanced to help them compensate for the advantages his enemies have over them. GAP planets are resisting the tyranny of a group of marauders called DASHOOOR. He meets and falls in love with his communication officer Blair and together with the rest of their team embark on missions to save the galaxy. If you are a science fiction fan you will enjoy how this story develops and the neat technology Space Rangers have at their disposal to help them fight crime. This is the first of a three part series.
