

Executive Report on Strategies in Hong Kong

This report provides a strategic profile of Hong Kong. It does so by compiling published information that directly relates to latent demand and accessibility. The reader new to Hong Kong can quickly understand where Hong Kong fits into a firm's strategic perspective. In what follows, Chapter 2 is a general evaluation of the accessibility of Hong Kong, with particular focus on investment and business conditions. In Chapter 3, I report my findings on the real economic potential, or latent demand, represented by Hong Kong when defined as an area of dominant influence. Chapter 3 is followed by trade indicators for key industries, categories, and products in Hong Kong.
