

Its Mom: Lessons in Life, Love, Happiness and the power within

The book Its Mom is representative of a collection lessons in life, love, happiness and the power within, gleaned from the Authors Christian experience. Many of the lessons were sent to the authors three now adult children over the course of their lives via email with Its Mom the books title, in the subject line. The author feels that the Christian inspired lessons within her email messages with relative Bible references, provided her children with wisdom, direction, motivation, encouragement, a sense of self worth and inner power for life. The author believes that that these lessons in life, love, happiness and the power within, were instrumental in helping her children to move forward from a small inner city Chicago public school to the halls of Oxford as a PHD and as a successful Educator and Engineer. The author is also the author of book title Act like a lady-Think like a man
