

Dream Me An Island

An island rising from the sea, sand strewn with coconut husks frothing at its perimeters; leaning palms; the hills a mirage of purple looming from the rainforest Set on an imaginary Caribbean island a conflation of Tobago and St Lucia Dream Me An Island tells the story of local taxi driver Charles Wesley Smiley Gumbs, who is coerced into using Obeah Magic to pressurise the Raubbau International Mining Corporation to stop mining for gold. The islands slave-descendant inhabitants also face other kinds of invaders: tourists, non-indigenous plants and animals, and they continue to ward off harmful magic and cure their ills with jumbie names, bush baths and medicine bags of blood, bones, skins, eggshells and feathers. But, as Charles W. Smiley Gumbs discovers, curing an island dying of greed was another thing altogether: as the Obeah Magic Man tells him, Anything that belong to this island be taken back by this island. Dream Me An Island received an Honourable Mention in Ellen Datlow and Terri Windlings The Years Best Fantasy And Horror, Tenth Annual Collection, St. Martins Griffin, New York. It appears in Chris Bells story collection The Bumper Book of Lies, which received an Honourable Mention in the same anthology. The story was singled out for special mention by writer and critic Paul Di Filippo in Asimovs Science Fiction.
