

Miles to Go (Sylvan Investigations Book 1)

The person you pass on the street may not be human. They are known as the fatae, the various non-human species that make up the Cosa Nostradamus, the magic-using community. And they could be your neighbors, your teachers, your fellow commuters. Your local PI. Meet Danny Hendrickson: Human mother, faun father, 100% attitude. For the most part, Danny's made his own way, straddling the line between human and supernatural in his job the way he does in his life. It's an ordinary job, when he's approached by a young woman who has information he needs to solve a missing persons case. All she wants to do is help. But the cost of that information will change Danny's life forever.
