

Sol In Extremis: Volume II

Earth is lost to us. Consumed by a blackness remembered only in legend. A thousand years have passed, and the remnants of humanity now sail a burning sea - a whirlpool of fire left in the wake of the Earths demise. They call it The Eddawielm. Volume II: Ten years after events conspired to drag a young Edmund from his home, he finds himself living in poverty and addiction; exiled, in the depths of one of the great Megaliths - vast cities carved into planetary remnants. He assumes that fate has forgotten all about him, until a well-paid but highly suspicious job leads him into the deepest tunnels... in pursuit of an ancient map. Meanwhile, Captain Redfast and his crew find themselves working as mercenaries; caught in the midst of a terrible conflict between the all-powerful Corporate nations. As mighty warships clash on the burning seas, a Corporate spy attempts to unravel a mystery that may have led to the war in the first place. In time, all three paths may converge, and the truth may be revealed... but will anyone live to see it?
